

Interim Report (short version)
January – June 2002

President's comments

The Fourth Swedish National Pension Fund's disappointing overall return in the first half was the consequence of falling asset prices on world stock markets. Nevertheless, holding a high proportion of the Fund's assets in equities continues to be strategically important for the long-term financial stability of the pension system. This is because the anticipated long-term return from equities exceeds that of other financial instruments.

The Fourth Swedish National Pension Fund's return of -10.2% (against -9.7% for the Fund's benchmark index) is also unsatisfactory in a short-term context. In line with the established guidelines for the investment process, a review has been commenced with a view to improving asset management returns.

Stockholm, 30 August 2002

Thomas Halvorsen
